In Memoriam

Dave Fraser

Facing the sudden gulf, the silent
Precipice where the pathways stop,
Where flame by flame the silver constant Lamps of our lives to darkness drop,

Life would I praise, this sentient being,
Careless, unpraised, unplumbed delights,
Movement and speech, hearing and seeing,
Sleep and awakening, days and nights.

Glory to life in all things lovely,
Birds and lithe beasts and flowers and trees,
Praise in the marvellous joy of beauty,
Nameless contents and ecstasies.

Praise to the power within the creature Creative, hand and brain and will Toiling through endless Time in rapture, Failure, achievement, seeking still.

Father of life, with songs of wonder,
I praise thee, even to this end,
Love unto thee all loves surrender,
From Whom they flow, towards Whom they tend.

Mine is thy Will, I yield the spirit
Still on Thine errand without cease Gladly to run, or to inherit
In Thine eternal dwelling peace.

Margaret L. Woods

Deb. a real nice girl and hope will stay that way. Have fun with the boys in the ~~future~~ future
Best wishes to you from M. J. ~~Sanchez~~
'67'

a Nice girl
Deb.

In Memoriam

Henry Revira

Vague winds of sorrow blow
Across the night's wide lake;
There is a road I know,
But may not take.

There is a house of vines,
Where friendly shadows lie;
The window-candle shines,
But I pass by.

Afar my pilgrim load
I bear--yet evermore
My feet are on that road,
My hand is at the door.

Co-op

AMICO/Albion High School Co-ops Diane Anderson and Peggy Gillette learn about IBM computer operations from AHS alumnus Larry Ketchum, an AMICO systems analyst.

Yes, you can grow--grow in job skills, grow in knowledge, grow in earning power. And the best place to grow is with a company that's on the move. Albion Malleable Iron Company is such a company. AMICO is using its three-quarters century of metal-casting experience to back up its current dramatic growth. As a growing company, AMICO realizes the importance of well trained employees. AMICO actively supports high school and college cooperative training and apprenticeships in several skilled trades--and encourages college education through scholarships and financial assistance to employees wishing to further their education. So, cast your future with a growing outfit--cast your future with AMICO.
